

We Give Great Thanks

Good and gracious God,
as people gather together this Thanksgiving,
we pause from the routine of our daily lives
to give special thanks and praise for the abundant blessings you have bestowed upon us.

You have entrusted us with the wonders of your creation and given us the freedoms and opportunities to creatively collaborate in your divine plan.

Bless all who gather in your name.
Give us the grace to be good stewards of your bounty,
the courage to proclaim the Gospel in word and deed,
and the generosity to return all to you with increase.

Grant that those who are blessed with abundance, never close their hearts to those most in need of your mercy, particularly the hungry, the homeless, the poor, and those who traverse the earth in search of a better life.

Bless our loved ones, family and friends.
This we ask through our Lord, Jesus Christ, your son who lives and reigns with you, one God, forever and ever.

Amen.

A Life Inspired by Mother Cabrini

~Fairfield County Catholic

When Lucille Souza was a high school freshman in Burbank, California, the idea crossed her mind that maybe, just maybe, she might be called to the religious life. Her parents, who were immigrants from Portugal, worked hard to make a good life for their family, and they sent her to a school run by Mother Cabrini's Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

"I was very active in school," she recalled. "I played sports and did all different kinds of things. I never really thought of entering the convent until my freshman year when I kind of had this calling."

Sr. Lucille Souza, MSC

When she was growing up, her mother always asked, "Don't you want to become a sister?" And Lucille would promptly repond, "No, I don't! Don't even talk about it!"

But, by senior year, the desire became very, very strong, largely inspired by the example of sisters in her school.

"Then, when I told my mother I wanted to enter the convent, she said, 'Oh no! Don't even talk about it!'" She was not happy with her daughter's decision, but her father was.

And so, at 18 years old, right out of high school, she entered the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and within a month she was teaching second grade at a school in Brooklyn, NY.

Recalling the sisters who inspired her, she said, "I knew this is what I wanted because I saw the sisters interacting with one another and how they loved each other and how they reached out to us girls, not just for the academics, but for our personal lives, and to help us grow and know Christ. That's what really motivated me."

Today, years later, after dedicating her life to the order, Sr. Lucille Souza, MSC has accomplished many things through the Sacred Heart of Jesus and the example of St. Frances Xavier Cabrini, the Patroness of Immigrants and the first American citizen saint.

Sister recently spoke at the Cabrini Mass at Sacred Heart Church, which is sponsored by Catholic Charities of Fairfield County, CT. It commemorates the Italian-American founder of the religious order, who supported immigrants throughout the United States and established 67 institutions, including schools, orphanages and hospitals that cared for the poor and marginalized.

"Mother's message today is as it has been throughout her whole life and that is love – bringing the love of Christ to the whole world," Sr. Lucille said. "That is the message the Missionary Cabrini Sisters bring to the world. Bringing that love means feeding the poor and reaching out to those in hardship. Mother really had a devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and that is the devotion and charism she has passed on to us."

Mother's deep love of the Sacred Heart is what propelled her to do everything she did. It was that love of him that he shared with her and, and she reciprocated that love to people she met along the way. "That is what we are trying to do today through that same love, that same going out of ourselves to give to others, especially those who are in dire straits," she said.

Feast Day Celebrations on the Mountaintop

Fr. John Lager, OFM, Cap. celebrates Mass at the Mother Cabrini Shrine on the Feast Day.

With grateful and joyful hearts, the Missionary Sisters, staff and community of volunteers, friends, and donors at Mother Cabrini Shrine in Golden, Colorado celebrated the feast day of St. Frances Cabrini on November 13.

The chapel was full as we celebrated Mass, followed by the blessing of our new gift shop and of course, a festive reception with refreshments.

Fr. John Lager, O.F.M., Cap., long-time friend of the Shrine and Missionary Sisters, wrote a guest article for the Denver Catholic about what the Shrine means to him, and how the renovations that the Shrine is undergoing honors the legacy of Mother Cabrini by looking to the future.

Also, in honor of the 75th anniversary of Mother's canonization, Denver's Archbishop Aquila granted a partial indulgence for all who visit the Shrine over the next year.

VOICES for the VOICELESS

On Monday, November 15, not even the cold, blustery weather could dampen the Cabrini spirit. Students from Cabrini University's ECG 200, Voices for the Voiceless class, spoke during a walk throughout campus where a number of "stations" were designated that focused on different topics around human trafficking. Many sports teams' members and their coaches attended, as well as, other students, staff and friends from the University. Many of these students will engage with human trafficking victims through their future careers and may be the first contact victims have. They will know the signs to recognize victims and know what to do about it. Our students have pledged to continue raising awareness and educate everyone they can to be part of ending human trafficking.

Additionally, a new tradition was born. The 50-year graduates (classes of '70 and '71) joined us in honoring our patron saint and received a special pin to commemorate their golden anniversary.

Thank you for all you've done, Sister Renee!
And congratulations to the 50-year graduates!

COP26 Climate Summit Made Progress But, Came Up Short re: Catholic Agencies

~ Brian Roewe, EarthBeat, National Catholic Reporter

The United Nations climate summit known as COP26 took some steps forward in the global effort to rapidly limit dangerous levels of warming, but not nearly enough or fast enough, say Catholic groups who were present in Glasgow throughout the two-week conference.

Catholics take part in a march of more than 100,000 people on November 6 through the streets of Glasgow calling for stronger and more urgent action from world leaders to address climate change. Laudato Si' Movement

Its final document, the Glasgow Climate Pact, showed signs of progress, with countries asked to deliver new plans to cut greenhouse emissions by next year, movement on “loss and damage” and the first-ever mention – in 26 years of these proceedings – of the need to reduce the use of fossil fuels.

But, for many, the ambition exhibited by nations, near the start of a decade scientists say is critical to avoid catastrophic climate change, was less than expected and overall disheartening.

The COP has yet again failed to deliver real ambitious action and transformation,” Josianne Gauthier, Secretary General of CIDSE, a network of Catholic development agencies, said in a statement. “This is a missed opportunity to change course and reach an inclusive economic system that supports healthy and thriving ecosystems and protects human rights and dignity for all.”

“COP26 has not been a disaster – but not a success either. Some would call it a ‘compromise’ or a ‘balanced outcome,’ Lorna Gold, Board Chair of the Laudato Si’ Movement, told EarthBeat. “Sadly, a rapidly changing climate does not react to such human excuses. Climate reacts only to action – scientifically, verifiable reductions. We are still a long way off from that.”

Santa Cabrini Hospital, Montreal, Canada – A Significant Milestone

Although no longer a presence there now, for many years, the Missionary Sisters served as the religious sponsors of Santa Cabrini Hospital in Montreal, Canada. Many MSCs served there as administrators and nurses, among them Sr. Grace Waters, MSC and the late Sr. Joan Marie Sariti, MSC.

Recently, the hospital celebrated its 60th Anniversary. On this special occasion Sr. Diane Olmstead, MSC, Provincial, sent greetings to the hospital staff. Ms. Irene Giannetti, a former hospital administrator, who orchestrated the anniversary celebration shares that Sr. Diane’s much appreciated message has been translated into French and Italian and was circulated during the celebrations. Ms. Giannetti shares this link which highlights the history of the institution. To view, please click here

First Sunday in Advent

Sunday, November 28, 2021

Another season of Advent has begun. It's hard to believe that we are ready to begin our preparation for the birth of our Lord and Savior. Advent, a time of sacred waiting. It seems like for the past almost-2 years, all we have done is wait. We continue to wait for the end of COVID-19, we wait to be mask-free, we waited for a vaccine. Although we continue to wait for an end to COVID, we have received the gift of a vaccine and also a booster. And now, as Christians, we are again asked to wait. We know who we are waiting for and we also know that at the end of Advent, Jesus will be born.

Our faith tells us that Jesus will be born on Christmas Day. It seems like the waiting is easier because we know the outcome. Our faith tells us that God is with us. Yet, waiting for things like the end of COVID seems to test our belief, our faith.

In Mark 9:24, the father of a child possessed by an unclean spirit cries out to Jesus and says, "I believe Lord, help my unbelief." Perhaps, this Advent, we can reflect on our reliance on God. Was my faith weakened during COVID? Did I trust that God was with me? As we pray the psalm response this Sunday, "To You, O Lord, I lift up my soul," let us also pray that as we lift up our soul, we ask the Lord to not only strengthen our belief but help our unbelief.

Prayer Requests

Richard (Dan) Eury

Please unite in prayer for Richard (Dan) Eury, the father of Brian Eury, Chief of Staff, at Cabrini University. Mr. Eury sustained a nasty fall last evening. Brian and his family would be grateful for prayers of healing for his father and the strength to make decisions about his father's future well-being.

Peter Matera

Prayers are requested for Peter Matera of West Park, NY, who is intensive care and on a ventilator battling Covid. He is at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie. Pete and his family all contracted Covid, but Pete's condition worsened and he needed to be hospitalized and his condition kept deteriorating. His wife, Jennifer, and two children are also in need of prayers as they are trying to handle all of this. Pete's family has been connected to the MSCs in West Park for a couple of generations.

It is with deep sadness that we mourn the passing of Adrienne O'Brien, PhD.
